

ACTIVITY AMONG MEX. BANDITS GROWING

MAY DRIVE TURK FROM EUROPE FOR GOOD

AGUA PRIETA, Sonora, Mexico, July 17.—According to a report received here yesterday from the Mexican military intelligence line from Mexico, a band of more than 170 Villistas, under command of Colonel Benjamin Vazquez, has invaded the state of Sonora from Chihuahua and is headed in the direction of Tornoblanco, this state, according to information from the commander of the military garrison here.

Even though this information was sent by General Amador Rodriguez to the several garrisons in the central portion of Sonora to concentrate all forces at Tornoblanco for the purpose of giving battle to the outlaws.

Messages were also sent to the garrison commanders in the north and south of Tornoblanco to head off any possible retreat on the part of the bandits, should they attempt to flee in that direction.

Yaguis Coming North.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—Yagui Indian troops are being rushed to the northern border of Mexico, near Piedras Negras, on orders from Mexico City to replace the troops now stationed there, who formerly were under the Carranza regime, according to advice received by the State Department.

The garrison at Nuevo Laredo has been reinforced by the arrival of 150 men under Colonel Benavides and the attacking force has retired, according to advice there.

A number of former Carranza soldiers are reported to have been arrested by the federal authorities in the neighborhood of Eagle Pass and Del Rio on the Mexican side of the border.

ROMAHO MINING COMPANY.

Perhaps to say that the people of Columbus are asleep would be to tell a strong statement, but to say that they are showing a decided spirit of apathy in one of the biggest propositions ever put before any town in the Southwest is true. The Roma Mining Company and the Roma Mining Industries are offering the citizens here an opportunity that is seldom offered to any town whatever. We refuse to believe that the people of Columbus have taken this stand with all the knowledge and the immensity of the proposition before them; but we prefer much to believe that it is merely either because they have not all the facts at hand, or having them, they have failed to realize just what direct bearing the development of this district would mean to Columbus.

Having two distinct advantages, namely, that of a town already established and the closest available water supply, it would be easy for this town and vicinity to grasp the wonderful trade opportunities offered by the development of this district. Just what this development means to Columbus would be impossible to put in plain, and type, and were it possible the telling would seem almost a fairy tale. Suffice it to say that history has shown towns lifted from mere villages to thriving, bustling cities within a comparatively short time, with business doubled and tripled, with population increasing so fast that it is necessary to take a census every morning in order to come anywhere close to the number of people, with real estate values soaring and with all the many advantages and conveniences to be had in a modern, live city. All this has been done by the development of properties many times smaller and far less promising than the Roma Mining district of which the Roma Mining Company is now doing the most active development.

Think the Roma Mining Company and many other large development companies certain to follow would entirely ignore Columbus and build their own town, together with their own stores, their own residences, would be regrettable and a vital blow to this city. That this will be done is something of which we have no knowledge, nor even do we suspect it. Certainly the citizens of Columbus and vicinity should as common business men give every help and aid possible that this condition shall not come to pass, and if it does come to pass only themselves are to blame. As we said before, we know of no such condition, nor do we suspect it, yet that such things have been done in the past is a matter of history. Wake up, Columbus! At least look at the development of one of the vastest storehouses that nature has left in gift to her children, or else in the years to come the old familiar cry, "It might have been," will resound in Columbus, and at such a time that it will be too late.

Following is a report submitted by Mr. Bert Rober. Mr. Rober is an expert mining engineer, with his present headquarters at Denning, and is recognized by his associates as being one of the best in his line. This report is both practical and technical. Two explanations are necessary before the report is offered, first, that a "fault zone" as mentioned in this report, does not mean merely a streak or vein, but literally means an area of ore; second, we wish to call the reader's attention to the fact that all reports made by reputable, reliable geologists are very conservative. Follow is Mr. Rober's report:

Columbus, N. M., March 27, 1930.

Mr. John P. Mack, Columbus, N. M.

Dear Sir:—Pursuant to your instructions of recent date, I have completed a survey and examination of your group of claims commonly known as the Warren Mine and herewith send you map of property and a report covering the present condition of the property as to development and some observations as to the geological features present and probably to be met in the future development and exploitation of the property.

Location and Area.

The property consists of ten full claims, or approximately 200 acres. The claims are laid out in such a manner as to cover very completely the known mineralized ground and protect the owners in the event of their future operations. The property is located in the Roma Mining District, Luna County, New Mexico, and more particularly in the southern part of Sections 3 and 4, Township 28 South, Range 9 West, The Columbus-Denning highway.

All Ladies Invited.

The Ladies Aid for July will meet at the residence of Mrs. Yorkburgh July 28 in the club. 10 o'clock. All denominations are invited.

"The Tower of Jewels"

Here is the screen play for you. "The Tower of Jewels" has created a sensation wherever shown. It will pack the Columbus theater tonight.

Baseball Tomorrow.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be a baseball game between headquarters company of the 24th Infantry and the Columbus baseball team. The following Sunday the local team will play the First National Bank team of El Paso.

Stand Off El Paso Now.

People who wear starched collars can now have them ironed in the most up to date manner by sending them to the Columbus Steam Laundry, phone 25. A new collar machine has been added to the equipment, making this concern not only the largest but one of the best in the state. The parent of the intensity last week was $5.00, and it is approximately the same every week.

See Main Contribution II.

Mr. Jacobson, who delivers for the Columbus Ice and Electric Company, is too tired at night to visit the library at the Community House, but he wants others to. So he donated $2 to help support the club. It is regrettable there are not more like him.

Promotion for Gen. House.

According to reports in El Paso last evening, General Robert L. House, known to everyone for his Army affiliations, but particularly well known in Columbus because of his connection with the Roma Mining Company, will be promoted from colonel to brigadier general. During the war was House was a major general.

Mohrley Will Get Well.

Soldier Mohrley, who was shot in the back by his brother-in-law Wednesday night, is still lying on his stomach in the base hospital at Camp Furlong. Inverness and attendants who have had a look at his back say it looks like a nerve. The camp carpenter is building a four-foot high dining table on Mohrley's bed to stand up and eat.

Base Hospital at Low Tide.

There are only 15 patients at the base hospital, according to Major Hansen, and two of these are civilians. This is the smallest number in over a year. It may be said of Major Hansen that he has never lost a patient, though he is knocking wood continually. This news from down town, however, if Dr. Field sees it, because the doctor is still there as one of the civilian patients.

New Sheriff in Town.

Sheriff Jack Snyder is in Columbus today.

(Of course the election is not until November, but Jack Snyder's selection by a Democratic primary for sheriff is significant in this connection. And the Daily Courier is going to call him sheriff. Simpson is a good Democrat and won't object.—Ed.)
